Forms

Creating an application form can be a bit complex. So, make sure you can focus and pay enough attention to smallest details.

The form designer has a lot of powerful features. It basically links the data that will be entered to proper fields in the database.

These fields are either system fields or classifications or custom fields.